Creating Disability Culture in Centers for Independent Living

February 10, 2016

Evaluation Survey

Your feedback on this webinar/teleconference is important to us. At the end of the discussion you will be asked to complete an evaluation.

- Please click on the link provided at that time and fill out the brief survey.

This is an informal discussion for CILs

The discussion is being recorded and will be posted to the ilru.org website within 48 hours.

The goal of the discussion is to identify strategies for enhancing the profile of disability culture and pride at a center for independent living.

Question #1

How do you engage individuals with disabilities at your center when a CSR isn't necessarily relevant or appropriate to the individual?

Question #2

How can a center use individuals who have a history with disability rights to connect with people who are uninitiated?

Question #3

How can a center use interior design (layout, photos/art) to foster disability culture and pride?

Question #4

What impact does location of a CIL have on inclusion, diversity, and culture?

Question #5

Is there a way to express disability rights within a human rights context that helps the broader public connect the dots between the two?

Question #6

What barriers do you encounter in creating a disability culture at your CIL?

Question #7

How do peer groups set a tone for the character of a center?

Question #8

What is the impact of signage and extent of accessibility on disability pride and culture?
